Have a secret picnic by a waterfall at Hayburn Wyke

Hayburn Wyke is a secluded cove between Scarborough and Whitby. With the beach and woodland to discover, this hidden gem is the perfect setting for a picnic or a day of exploration.

- 1 Facing the Hayburn Wyke Inn turn left along the track and through the gate.
- 2 Follow the path as it heads along the field and then turns right and drops down to the woodland.
- 3 Go through the gate into the woodland and follow the main path leading all the way down to the shore. Here you can enjoy the pebble beach and the waterfall.
- 4 Turn back up the path and this time after 100 metres turn left onto the Cleveland Way. Follow the signed route as you climb up through the woods.
- 5 Keep left and climb out of the woods staying on the Cleveland Way.
- 6 Continue along the Cleveland Way coastal edge until you come to a bend and a fork in the path.
- 7 Take the right fork signed as a footpath leaving the Cleveland Way and coastal edge.

- 8 Continue on this path until it joins a road at some houses.
- 9 Follow the road towards the bridge for the old railway line.
- 10 Turn left just before the bridge to climb up onto the old railway line known as the CinderTrack.
- 11 Turn right on the CinderTrack and follow this for 1½ kilometres back to Hayburn Wyke.
